Eugene was born and raised in the fishing community of St. Bride's on the Cape Shore. He attended Fatima Academy before graduating from Memorial University with a Degree in Civil Engineering. Now living in St. John's, Eugene and his wife Meghan are very proud parents of their two young boys, Elliot and Max.

The son of a school teacher and small business owner, Eugene knows the value of a good education and hard work. In 1983, his father founded J & E Enterprises Ltd., a family-owned and operated civil construction firm specializing in remote and marine infrastructure projects. Working alongside Newfoundlanders and Labradorians, Eugene has led teams that have been building our province his entire life. Today, he is the Vice President of the family business, and under his leadership, he has created job opportunities for people in all regions of Newfoundland and Labrador.

No stranger to politics, Eugene has more than two decades of experience spearheading dozens of municipal, provincial, and federal campaigns. Most recently, Eugene has served as the President of the Progressive Conservative Party of Newfoundland and Labrador, overseeing a new constitution's approval and sparking renewed engagement among party members and district associations.

Eugene is a realist. He knows that solid policy is not only built for what we want but also for what we can afford. Raised in an entrepreneurial family and often earning his living in the unforgiving environments of the North Atlantic, Eugene has proven experience identifying problems and finding solutions within a practical framework. He knows that defining the problem is only the beginning. It is in committing to the solution where authentic leadership is required. From inadequate healthcare to education outcomes, Newfoundland and Labrador leads in all the wrong areas. Eugene is committed to ensuring we lead in the right ones.

Eugene is a connector and doer with courage and determination. He is a leader with conviction. Too many of our current political leaders speak about finding solutions to our problems soon. We need those solutions now. It's Time to Lead.
